II. PUBLIC COMMENT

1. Kathy Musick, VPE – Updated the Board on Virginia Professional Educator’s work in Richmond. She also requested that the Board remember teachers during the upcoming budget preparation and do everything they can to increase salaries for teachers.
2. Phyllis Mullins, DEA – Updated the Board on Lobby Day and the work of the DEA for the upcoming budget, which includes salary disparity. In meeting with the legislators, she felt the Governor really seemed to listen to the concerns expressed by the DEA.
3. Allison Mullins – Expressed her concerns to the Board on how grant monies are handled and the checks and balances of how money is spent and allocated. She felt the School Board should take a more proactive role in who was going to serve on some of these boards. She spoke on the FIOA request from the Town of Haysi and stated the Corps was contacted and provided information on the contracts at no charge. She also stated that she felt betterments were still an issue on the impact of funding for the new elementary school project.
4. Gleason Austin – Inquired about the status of the land at Sandlick/Haysi and if the inspection of the schools had already been performed. You’ve got one time to get this right. He asked the Board to think ahead 5 or 10 years and consider all children.
5. Joe Tate – Addressed the Board concerning the location of the new elementary school. I can lead you to a place that the utilities are in place, the road is in place, the materials to make the field is in place and it would allow it to be raised out of the flood zone. With this project two things should be looked at: 1. the students (kids) gets primary consideration and 2. Taxpayers need to be considered. You’ve got money to start with and please put it to good use and don’t let anyone tell you it’s a smart move to take $200,000 out of the school fund.
6. Don Hill – Urged the Board to utilize the facts when choosing the new elementary site; student population density, infrastructure that already exist, most importantly the student safety and the impact on the taxpayers. When you look at all the data in the comparison of the two sites you will find that this school should go in Clinchco; from a cost stand point and safety stand point.

WHEREAS, Small and Rural Localities and Stakeholders have determined that working collaboratively will enhance their collective voice in legislative and other matters; and

WHEREAS, Local Stakeholders include School Boards, Boards of Supervisors, City Councils, Town Councils, Industrial Development Authorities, Chambers of Commerce, etc.; and

WHEREAS, Small and Rural Stakeholders believe that PK-12 public education is critical to the vitality of their region and to the Commonwealth as a whole; and

WHEREAS, Rural School Divisions have seen a decline in K-12 enrollment of almost 18,000 students since 2009 which represents a 6% decline; and

With the assistance of Doug Rose, Mr. Mullins conducted his study on Thursday, Jan. 18, 2018. The Board of Supervisors also directed a similar study of CES and EES. Chris Rakes, The County's Building Inspector and Leman Kendrick, with the assistance of Doug Rose conducted this study on Wednesday, Jan. 17, 2018.

i. Update on the General Assembly and FY 2019 School Budget

On December 18, 2017, the Dickenson County Public Schools received the Governor’s Introduced Budget for 2018-2019 and the Caboose bill for the Projected FY 2018 payments. The mid-year adjustment includes a slight decrease in the current budget.

Projected FY 2018 Payments were $14,471,024. The information received Dec. 18, 2017; the projected funds for FY 2018 are $14,435,828, a decrease in this year’s budget of $35,196 due to a slight decrease in projected student enrollment.

The Proposed FY 2019 payments are $14,709,671, which represents an increase of $273,843. This increase in State funding is primarily due to the decrease in our Composite Index (LCI) for the new Biennium.
